Foreword

Park College has meant many things to many people. The four point program of religion, academics, social life and service to the community has put forth challenges to every student, and each one of these goals has been met with a varying degree of success. But the true meaning of Park College cannot be found among these pages; it can only be hinted at through the activities and contributions of our students. This book, then, is a recollection of the Park tradition in action during the 1957-58 academic year.

It is with affection and gratitude that the yearbook staff dedicates the 1958 NARVA to the faculty of Park College. In a very real sense, the faculty is responsible for putting Park College high on the academic listing of the colleges and universities in the United States. Not only do they devote much time to individual students in academic areas, but also engage in the gamut of extra-curricular activities, either as advisors or participants. The faculty here at Park possesses a high degree of intellectual integrity, and strives to instill this in its students. Through the devotion and dedication of the faculty, the true spirit of the Park College family is kept alive.

Dedication

Campus Activities

Problem: To get the right people in the right places at the right times.

Feet ache a little?

Round and round and round.....

...only to end up in this mess.

Opening Weeks

From the full schedule of rush parties, serenades, club picnics, to the filling out of cards, forms, blanks, and checks that is known as registration, the opening weeks found the campus trying to execute the theory of perpetual motion. Things were somewhat calmed by the traditional Opening Convocation, which marked the beginning of classes. The Convocation address was delivered by Mr. Frank Pace, Jr., President of the General Dynamics Corporation, who spoke on "America- the New Scientific Frontier." Honorary degrees were conferred upon Mr. Pace and The Reverend W. Felston Christopher. (In the February Convocation, The Reverend W. Davidson McDowell spoke on "The Rock From Which We Are Hewn." Honorary degrees were conferred upon Dr. McDowell and Dr. Hans Schwieger.)

Smitty loses his beard for the (?) time.

Did you say you can't swim...

GOOD SQUAD: Left to Right; Ken Martin, Sam Barnes, George Stewart, Karen Peters, Betty Nelson, Sonja Ideen.

Come on Frosh, you can do better than that . . .

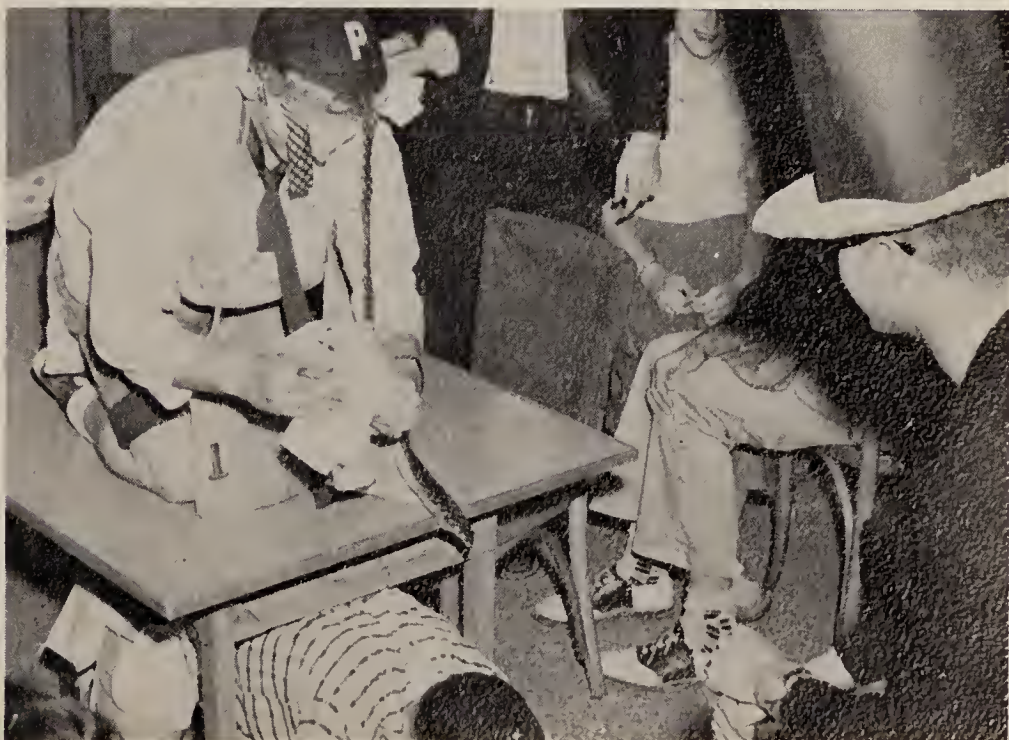

Sam Pendleton, Tom Aldrich, Gerry Moody.

The traditional form of Hell Week was revived this year, much to the delight of the Frosh and the upper classmen. The Frosh were taught humility and respect for their elders, and they gradually emerged from "lowly, stinking creatures" to respectable members of the Freshman class. The goon squad, headed by Gerry Moody, was ever sympathetic and understanding, resolute and firm. Those Frosh who had displayed overly antagonistic tendencies during the week were dealt with by an impartial jury of upper classmen at Frosh court.

Hell Week

Wipe that smile off your face, Frosh. Or do you want to stay in your cage all day ....

Having a little trouble, Frosh?

This is too obvious for comment.

I'm going to give you a little advice, Frosh....

Now Frosh, don't you feel just a little silly?

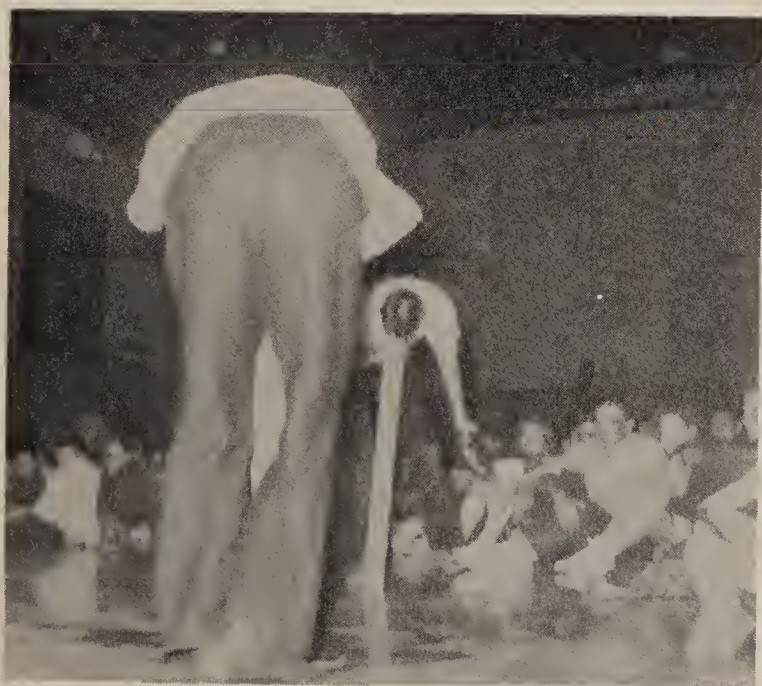

Look! This Frosh has talent!

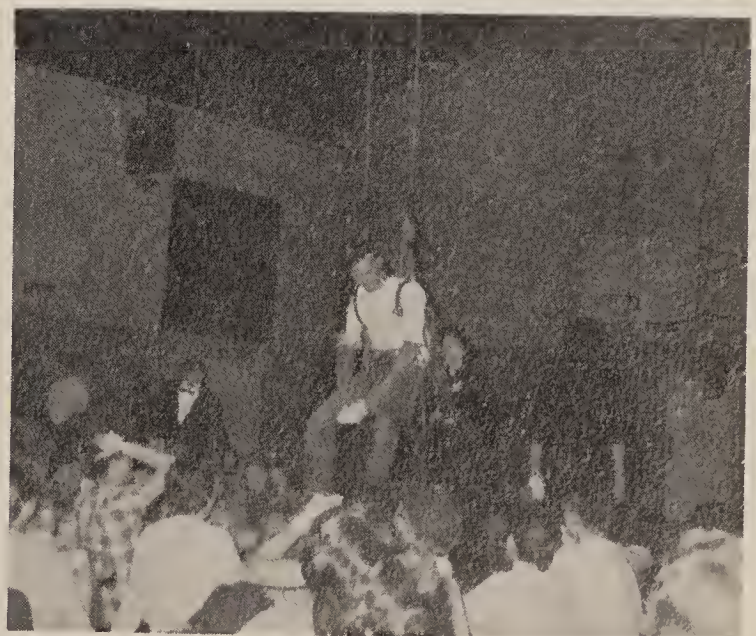

Just a tip: Appealing to the sympathy of the jury won't do a bit of good.

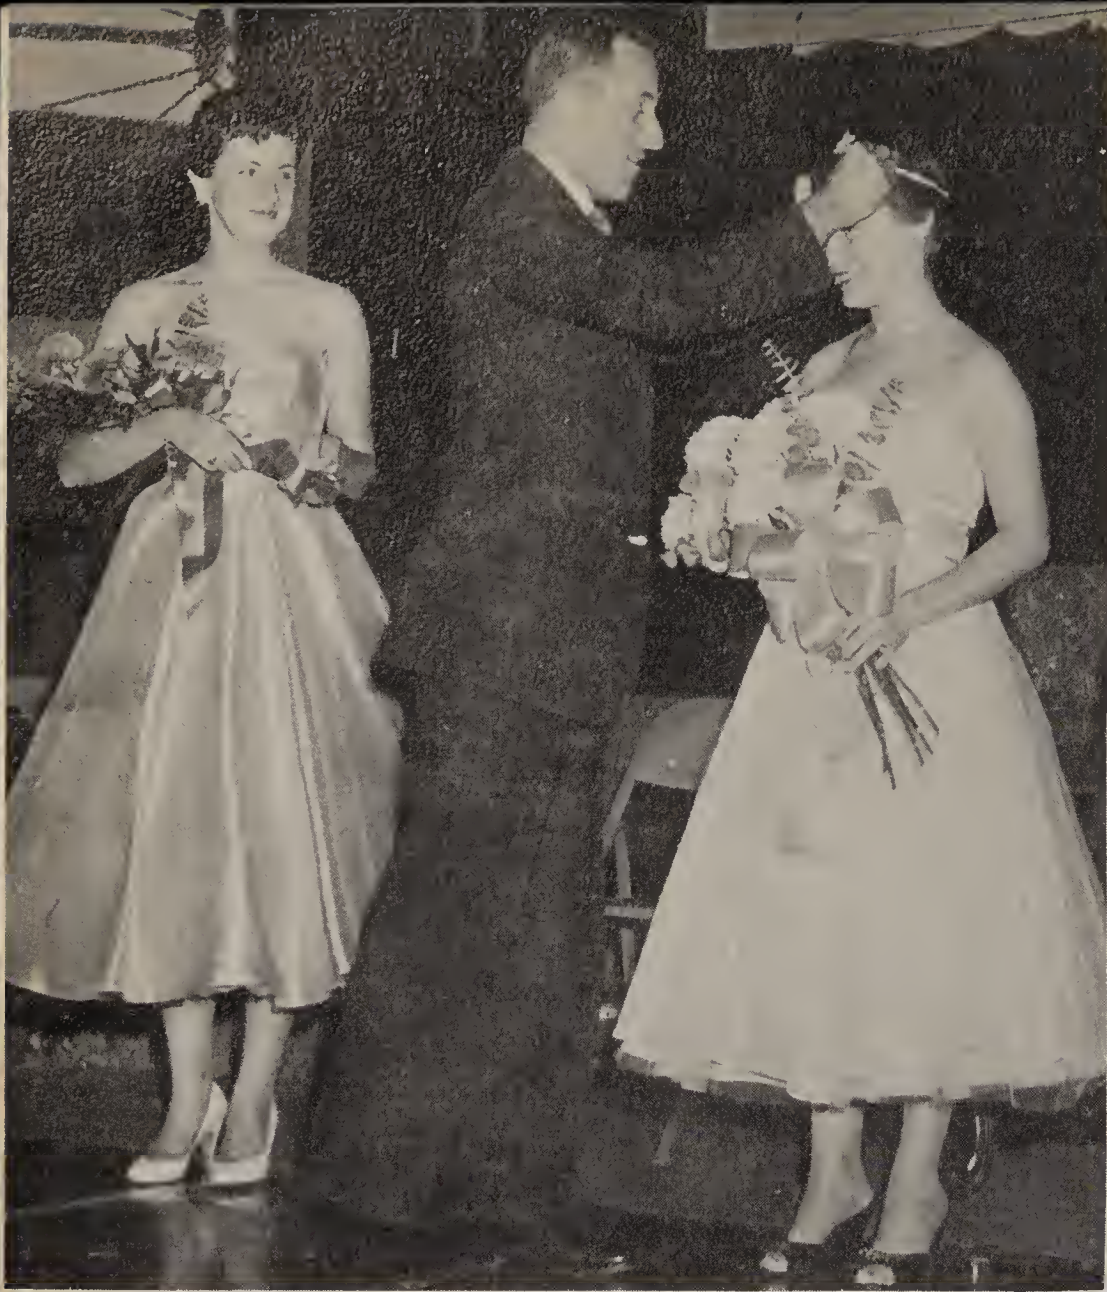

Keep the nose on the board Frosh!

Like to ride in elevators? Then you're sure to like this.

Mr. Wine crowns Nona Lynn, Harvest Festival Queen.

The winner! Grizzliest of the grizzly.

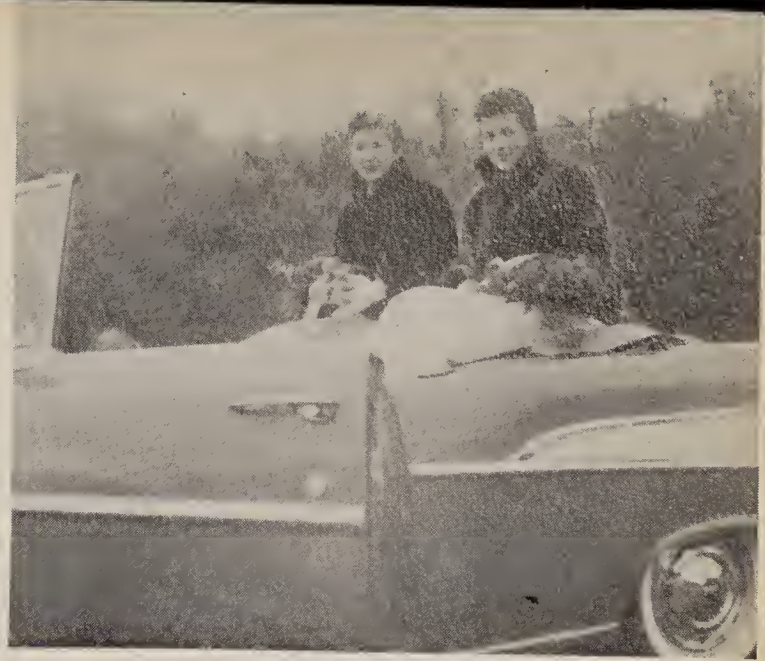

Rehearsals are tedious, aren't they Pete!

Entranced?

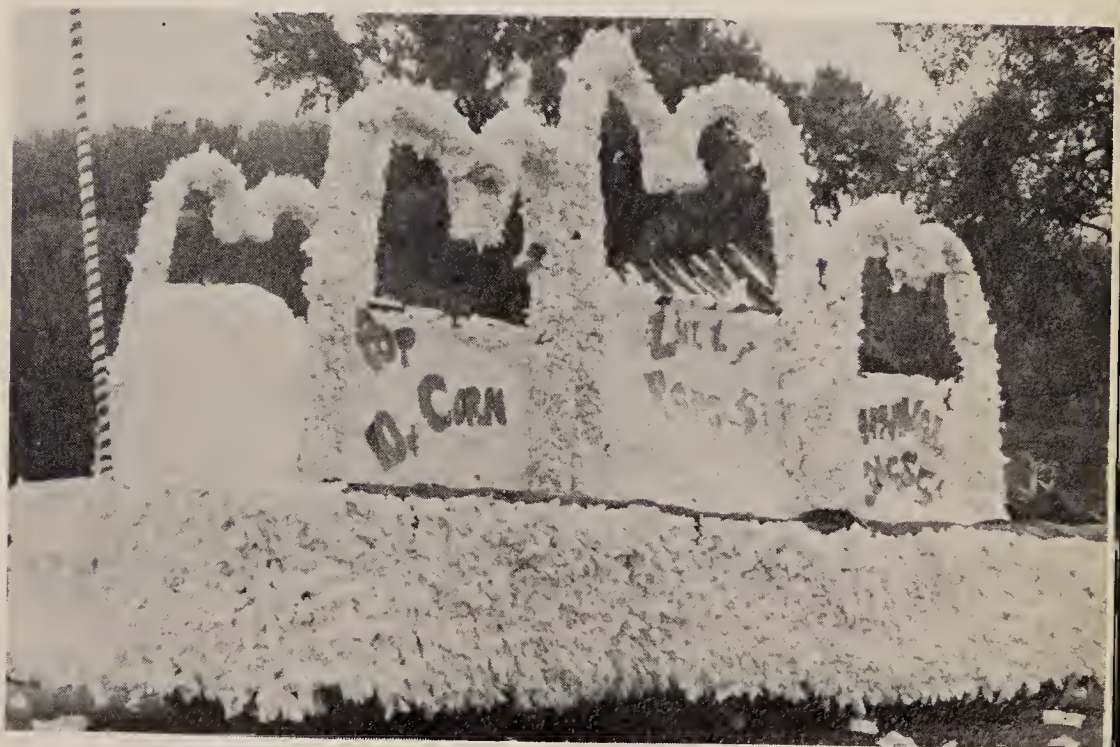

Queen and attendants reign over the soccer game.

Harvest Festival

This year's Harvest Festival (October 27, 28, 29), State Fair, saw the innovation of a separate coronation of the Queen, Miss Nona Lynn, preceding one of the finest variety shows ever produced for the event. Saturday morning dawned clear and cold and cold and cold. The parade this year, besides the club floats and Mr. Cormier's German band, contained representatives of off-campus groups--the Park Hill High School band, the Parkville chapter of the American Legion, and Parkville Rotary. The float contest (this year the floats were on the theme "an original booth one could see at a State Fair") was judged by Parkville business people and representatives from local high schools. The cold drove many to shelter during the soccer game, but our players stayed on the field and emerged victorious. The "Merry-go-round" dance Saturday night featured Don Accurro's Band, with the Park Singers providing entertainment. As with any event, the success of it is determined by the inventiveness, ingenuity, and hard work of the people producing it. The success of this event is a result of the thought and work of Matt Campbell, Karen Peters, Dave Axon, George Stewart, Gwynn Lyon, Walt Halliday, Al Larson, Karen Curtis, Rudy Manthei, and the dozens of other people who contributed to it.

The winning float, created by the OAC's.

Won't anybody smile?

Mr. David surveys his realm.

Little Theatre

Forced to find new quarters for dramatic productions, Jenkin David soon set to work transforming the speech room above the gym into a bona fide little theatre. A partition was removed and benches from the Bell Road Barn playhouse were installed; soon, the atmosphere was created by posters on the walls and theatrical drapes. The little theatre has proved to be a great success; the entire atmosphere is one of informality and closeness between the actors on the stage and the audience.

Great Scenes

In this production of "An Evening of Great Scenes," two innovations at Park were presented--the four well-chosen scenes from Shakespeare's Othello, Sheridan's The Rivals, Rostand's Cyrano de Bergerac, and Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew that were performed by the Park Players, as well as the idea of "studio theater." The latter was made near compulsory by the absence of Alumni Hall. The evening in Jenkin David's renovated "Little Theater" was indeed impressive.

In Othello, Ollie Harris handled the title role with Lora Lynn Kehr, Jim Moore, Grace Torrance, and Ed Thuma completing the cast.

Bob Tolan and Janie David were the stars of The Taming of the Shrew, while Barry Simpson and Ginny Sikso gave fine support.

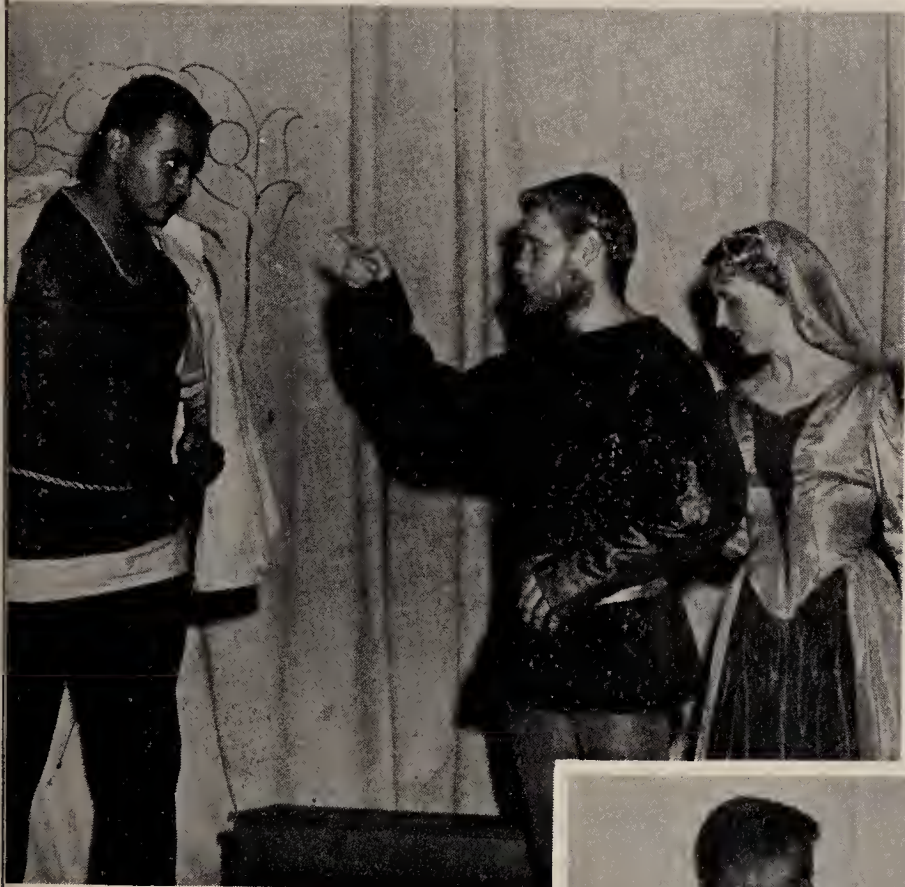

The Rivals featured Margaret Petter as the popular Mrs. Malaprop. The remainder of the cast included Sam Pendleton, Lois Sheppard, Sweet Long, Bob White, and Nancy Skinner.

Art Draper as Cyrano de Bergerac performed the highlights from Rostand's play with able support from Sunee Storms, Bob Richardson, Dave Axon, and Jerry Plummer.

The night was a real treat for the Park audiences and the efforts of Mr. David and the Park Players were certainly appreciated.

Cyrano . . . who never told his love until too late . . .

From Taming of the Shrew

From Othello

"A pound of flesh, but not a drop of blood . . ."

The Merchant Of Venice

One of the outstanding Chapel programs this year was presented by Jenkin David. Representative scenes from Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice were enacted by a fine cast: Pat Case, Judy Williams, Barry Simpson, Bob Tolan, Gary Clark, Bob Richardson, and Jerry Plummer. No one will ever forget Barry Simpson's gnome - like interpretation of Shylock, for it was the outstanding part of the production.

"Take your justice, Shylock!"

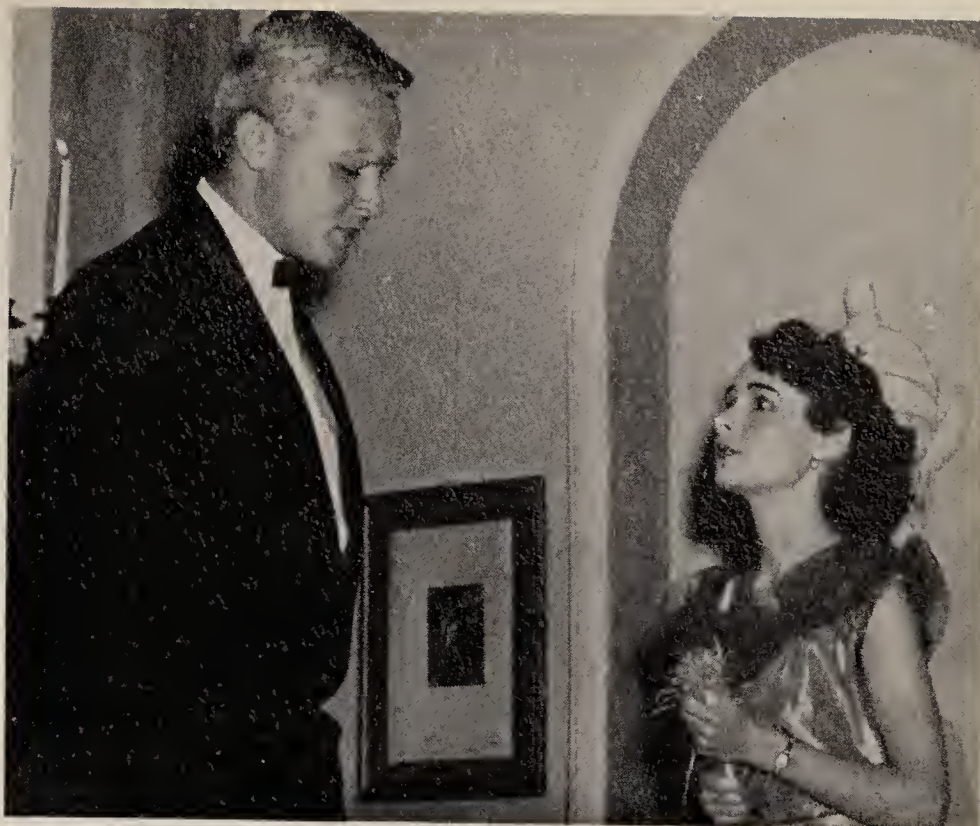

The mercy speech . . .

Lady Windermere is in no mood to be reasoned with . . .

"I'll be leaving soon . . .

Lady Windermere's Fan

Lady Windermere's Fan by Oscar Wilde was presented just before Christmas vacation. The play is a comedy of manners with an underlying love story. Fine performances were turned out by Grace Torrance, Jean McIver, George Stewart, Bob Tolan, Barry Simpson, Jim Moore, and John Ferguson, as well as those by the supporting cast. The production exhibited the efforts of the oral interpretation class, under the direction of Jenkin David.

"Isn't it a lovely ball, Lord Windermere!" (Lord Windermere obviously isn't enjoying himself.)

Park was host again this year to the annual Foreign Student's Party.

The traditional Halloween raid - lots of fun tonight, but ohhh, tomorrow!

Bettye Miller trio plays for the Christmas party.

Candle wax and pancakes, what a combination.

On the site of the old, the new.

In spite of drizzle and mud, the corner-stone was laid for the new Alumni.

Administration

PARK COLLEGE
PARKVILLE, MISSOURI

THE PRESIDENT

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1958:

This letter carries not only my warm congratulations to each of you on a job well done, but a personal wish for continued and greater successes in the next phase of your education. In this continuing process, whether undertaken in an academic setting or not, you will find that the rigorous experience which has been yours at Park will stand you in good stead. You may carry your Park degree with pride, knowing that it has been dearly won.

Consider your tie with us a permanent one, even though you are leaving the campus. You have been too long a member of this community to put it aside with cap and gown. There is a mutual benefit of great significance which will link us together down through the years. To have been associated with Park will help you throughout your life; to claim you as a graduate will always help Park. For you are the personification of the fruits of our labors, and in this product we take great pride.

Our affectionate regard goes with you.

Robert E. Long

ROBERT ELI LONG, Ph. D.

President

Marking his third year as president of Park College, Dr. Long continued the never-ending schedule of meetings, conferences, trips, and speeches that comprise his work. His belief in the institution of the small, liberal arts college has been seen in his tireless efforts to maintain the respect and standing of Park College throughout the nation.

In spite of the whirlwind pace which characterizes their schedule, both Dr. and Mrs. Long may be counted on to attend the gamut of social events at the College. Dr. Long also taught International Relations this semester, in collaboration with Dr. Hauptmann.

JAMES W. WINE, JR.
A.B., LL.B.

Vice - President

Park's new vice-president comes here from Kentucky where he was a former practicing lawyer and Special Circuit Judge. His areas of responsibility are development, admissions, public information and service, and Alumni affairs. He also takes an active part in conferences, committee work, and makes numerous speeches.

Mr. and Mrs. Wine have four children: Vi, Lisbeth, and twin boys, Mike and Charles. The Wines have shown a great interest in campus affairs, and have graciously opened their home to numerous student groups.

WILLIAM M. STANTON, JR., B.A.

Business Manager

In addition to his already formidable duty of managing the college's finances, Mr. Stanton finds time to sponsor the Student Enterprise Committee. He also has a great interest in other student affairs, and it is largely through his tireless efforts and planning that the J. R. plans for redecoration were effected.

HOWARD S. GREENLEE, Ph. D.

Dean Of The College

Dean Greenlee not only carries out his responsibilities as Dean, but also takes an active interest in the affairs of Park students. During the fall semester he taught a course in Colonial American History and began a discussion series on Great Books. The Dean's active participation in the History Club is but one example of his interest in the Park community.

W. BURNET EASTON, Jr. , S.T.M.

Dean of Religious Life

The duties of Dean Easton are indeed varied. He is not only responsible for the Campus Church and chapel programs, but also teaches courses in religion and serves as religious counselor and advisor to the Board of Student Publications and Pi Delta Sigma. Despite his busy schedule, Dean Easton always finds time for informal conversation with students, and has become known for his ready smile and humorous wit.

Office Of Student Personnel

RICHARD A. ELSON, B.S., M.A.

Dean of Students

A new addition to the Office of Student Personnel this year is Richard A. Elson, Dean of Students. Before coming to Park, Dean Elson was Director of Admissions and Registrar of the University of Kansas City

Dean of Women

In addition to her regular duties as advisor to the Women's Judicial Council and the Women's Interdorm Council, Health Center Coordinator, sponsor of the Vocational Guidance program, supervisor of campus housing and sponsor of Stephens dormitory, Dean White also taught classes in Home Economics this last year.

CHALCEA WHITE, M.A.

SHERRY BROWNE

Registrar

Twice each year, registration is held in the library. The person responsible for getting the right people in the right places is Mrs. Browne, whose duties include scheduling classes and keeping track of grade point averages and academic records. A formidable task, Mrs. Browne executes it with a high degree of efficiency.

Director of Public Information and Service

Miss Anderson's office is kept busy, for through it must be scheduled college publicity, speakers and appearances of student groups off campus, and special campus events.

RUTH E. ANDERSON, M. A.

HARRY J. MILLER, M.A.

Director of Admissions

Mr. Miller vacated his former position as Dean of Students to become Director of Admissions this year. His warm personality is an asset in the admissions field. Mr. Miller's duties often take him off campus, for personal contact is an important part of Park's admissions program.

Community Service Coordinator

Under the capable and efficient supervision of Mr. Fehlandt, the Community Service program is kept running smoothly. In addition to these duties, Mr. Fehlandt is also Supervisor of Student Industries.

Humanities

A complete course in the humanities includes the study of one or more languages, together with the appropriate culture, history, literature and arts, and of philosophy, its history, methods, and content. While thus vitally interesting themselves in the stuff of full human living, the humanities are also deeply concerned with values, significances, relationships, with the intangibles which lie behind and beyond. Where the physical sciences confine themselves to what may be weighed, measured, timed or counted, and the social sciences are extending these techniques to their fields as widely as possible, the humanities regard such elements in their subject-matter as mere raw material which must then be submitted to an entirely different scheme of evaluation, that of the intellectual and aesthetic sensibilities.

Natural Science

The departments of biology, chemistry, home economics, mathematics, and physics constitute the Natural Science Division. The Division strives to provide the highest quality of education for students planning to enter one of the fields of science. In addition to the technical training, the Division offers all students an opportunity to become acquainted with the basic concepts of natural phenomena and their applications to our ever increasing scientific and technological society.

Social Science

In times emphasizing the technological needs of society, courses in the Social Sciences Division confront the student with the challenge of social problems. There is a growing emphasis on mastery of knowledge within one subject area, with special concern for advanced research courses. The inter-departmental approach is evident in upper division courses drawing students from the whole division, as well as in the divisional seminar on the thought of Max Weber.

Campus Church

Campus Church activities began with the Fall Retreat at Dean Easton's home. Plans for the coming year were outlined and weekly meetings were used to work out details of these plans.

Regular functions of the Campus Church have included Wednesday Evening Vespers, Morning devotions, and cell group meetings. In addition to these, the Board of Elders has been responsible for several yearly functions. The first of these was the Freshman mixer. Religion in Life Week, February 23-26, was one of the major activities of the year. Drs. Zucker and Docherty, the speakers for this year, provided several interesting discussions. The annual W.U.S. carnival and auction, March 8, was another major activity for the Campus Church. While providing a pleasant evening for everyone, funds were raised for the World University Service. Periodic Dorm discussions and Sunday evening programs have been important segments of the program.

Activities have not been restricted to the campus. The Board of Elders has been able, through the benevolence fund supported by students and faculty, to support work in many areas of the world.

Choir

One of the most well-known contributions to Park College is its fine choir. Numbering a bit under seventy members, the choir is heard each Sunday, at Christmas, Easter, on radio broadcasts, at both Convocations, and on its Spring tour (this year to St. Joseph). Its members include both music and non-music majors. Mr. Kenneth Seipp is the director.

As the Park students will testify, the choir has been a source of enjoyment and an educational experience for both singer and listener. The range of music performed is extremely wide, including works of such composers as Buxtehude, Bach, Brahms, Schubert, Gibbons, Kodaly, Hindemith, Randall Thompson, and many others.

The choir may be heard on a recording made last year called Alleluias and Bxyzpts which also features the Park Singers. Four selections here illustrate the sound of the group singing some contemporary choral works. The record may be purchased through the college bookstore.

Last year Ralph Hunter appeared as guest conductor at the now annual Choral Workshop. This year another outstanding choral director appeared - Daniel Moe, Choral Director of the University of Denver.

A great deal of credit for the quality of the choir would have to go to Mr. Norman Nunn who is the chairman of the Music Department. His hard work as vocal instructor as well as the "general management" of the department is a big reason for the fine material that Mr. Seipp has to work with.

W. U. S.

"What am I bid for a steak dinner for four at Dierks!" Such were the sounds heard at the annual W.U.S. Carnival held March 8 in upper Commons. Under the co-chairmanship of Bruce Bucher and Matt Earle, the carnival ran smoothly, and proved lots of fun for those who participated. At the same time, money was raised to help support the World University Service, which sends aid to students all over the world. Mr. Ken Seipp and Mr. Al Dusing served as auctioneers.

Judicial Councils

The Judicial Councils must ever exert tact and discretion in judging the cases of discipline and guidance referred to them by members of the personnel staff. Membership on the Councils is permanent during one's stay at Park, and the members are appointed by the student council. The chairman is elected by the student body.

Student Council

This year, the Park College student council has undertaken numerous responsibilities never before held by the agency for student government. Besides its traditional duties relating to student groups and activities, the council was asked by the Administration to take positions on what had previously been faculty-administration committees. These additional positions of responsibility were on the Personnel Staff, the Library Committee, Academic Committee, and the newly formed Community Service Board.

Under the council's supervision, Hell Week was returned successfully to the Freshman orientation program. Reports still confirm the council's view that a well run and efficiently co-ordinated Hell Week has a place on the campus.

Something different in the sphere of council activities for the student body was the undertaking of bringing two folk-singers to the Park campus. Earl Robinson and Pete Seeger made appearances, the Seeger concert in May being a completely council supported affair, much to the benefit of the students.

Student interest, always a debatable question and sometimes absent, was apparently stimulated to a new limit this year. Several petitions to, for, and from the council had their birth during the year. All were heard and most had gratifying results.

RICHARD RYDINSKY
President,
Student Council

Perhaps the greatest accomplishment in the larger aspect of this year's council has been the re-designing and return of the Academic Problems Committee. Under its title of Academic Committee, the group will operate under the area formerly assigned to the old committee, but its functioning has been expanded to an auxiliary of the Academic Committee.

On the whole then, the year has seen greater student interest and a closer affiliation with the powers that be. Surely a step forward for any student government.

Narva

Since the NARVA staff had been evicted from Alumni last spring, it was necessary to find a new location for the torture chamber this fall. At last the old news bureau in the basement of Mackay was turned into a jumbled confusion of typewriters, layout sheets and pictures.

This year, Mr. Jenkin David took on the position of NARVA advisor. Thanks to the cooperation and aid of the numerous copy-writers and an economy-size bottle of aspirins, the NARVA was completed and met its deadline.

FIRST SEMESTER STAFF: Bob Richardson, Associate Editor; Bob Tolan, Editor; Rosanne Robinson, Business Manager.

Stylus

The four pages of the Stylus can be read in about fifteen minutes. But every minute of reading time represents at least an hour's work by each member of its staff. At the beginning of each week the staff optimistically sets out to "make this the best issue of the year". This optimism is soon dispelled by a chronic scarcity of copy of any sort, good or bad, and the pressures of meeting the publication deadline soon convince all concerned that "if we can just get this one out we will really make the one next week a good one."

Working on a weekly publication does have its rewards though. Chief among them is seeing the last copy roll off the presses and realizing that for a couple of days, at least, the pressure is off.

Idler Staff

Idler

The IDLER is Park's literary journal and is the only showcase for the creative talents of the student body. Named after the famous publication with which Samuel Johnson was associated, the IDLER appears in the spring featuring poetry, satire, short stories, and any other form of literary contribution which has been submitted.

The staff of the IDLER reads, criticizes, and selects the material to be published and decides whether the journal is to be sold or distributed free of charge; it has been free to students in the past two years. The IDLER is solely a student project.

The Inter-Club Council consists of the presidents of each of the social clubs and a chairman elected from the presidents of the preceding semester. The council is set up to handle any problem that may arise between clubs and, in the fall, the council is responsible for the assigning of new club members to their club choices.

This year, in addition to the annual Survival dance, the ICC sponsored an all-school Christmas party before vacation, featuring the Bettye Miller Trio, a dramatic production, movie, and dance.

Anthony - Cleopatra Clubs

The ACC's began the year, as usual, with a rush dinner and party. Our party was great fun for one and all (especially those members who participated in the entertainment.) We were very busy with the distribution of the favors and with the general organization of our part of Rush Week. Our work paid off in terms of some very responsible new Tonies and Cleos. We celebrated their joining us with a small party at the old J. R.

Our next major activity was the annual snowball dance which finally appeared in January. Our theme was "Rhapsody in Snow." Their majesties Charles Olson and Margaret Petter were crowned with much vigor and reigned very happily over the proceedings with their court of Nancy Shea, Bruch Bucher, Marilyn Douthitt, and Ed Oathout.

In sports, the teams functioned as usual. The high point for the season was the Cleo's tie for first in basketball.

Plans are going forward for the WUS Follies and Antoinettes. Both should prove to be events to remember in the second semester's club activities. We're also looking forward to our Easter breakfast with much enthusiasm because we remember the wonderful taste of pancakes in the rain.

Margaret Petter and Chuck Olson reign over the "Rhapsody in Snow."

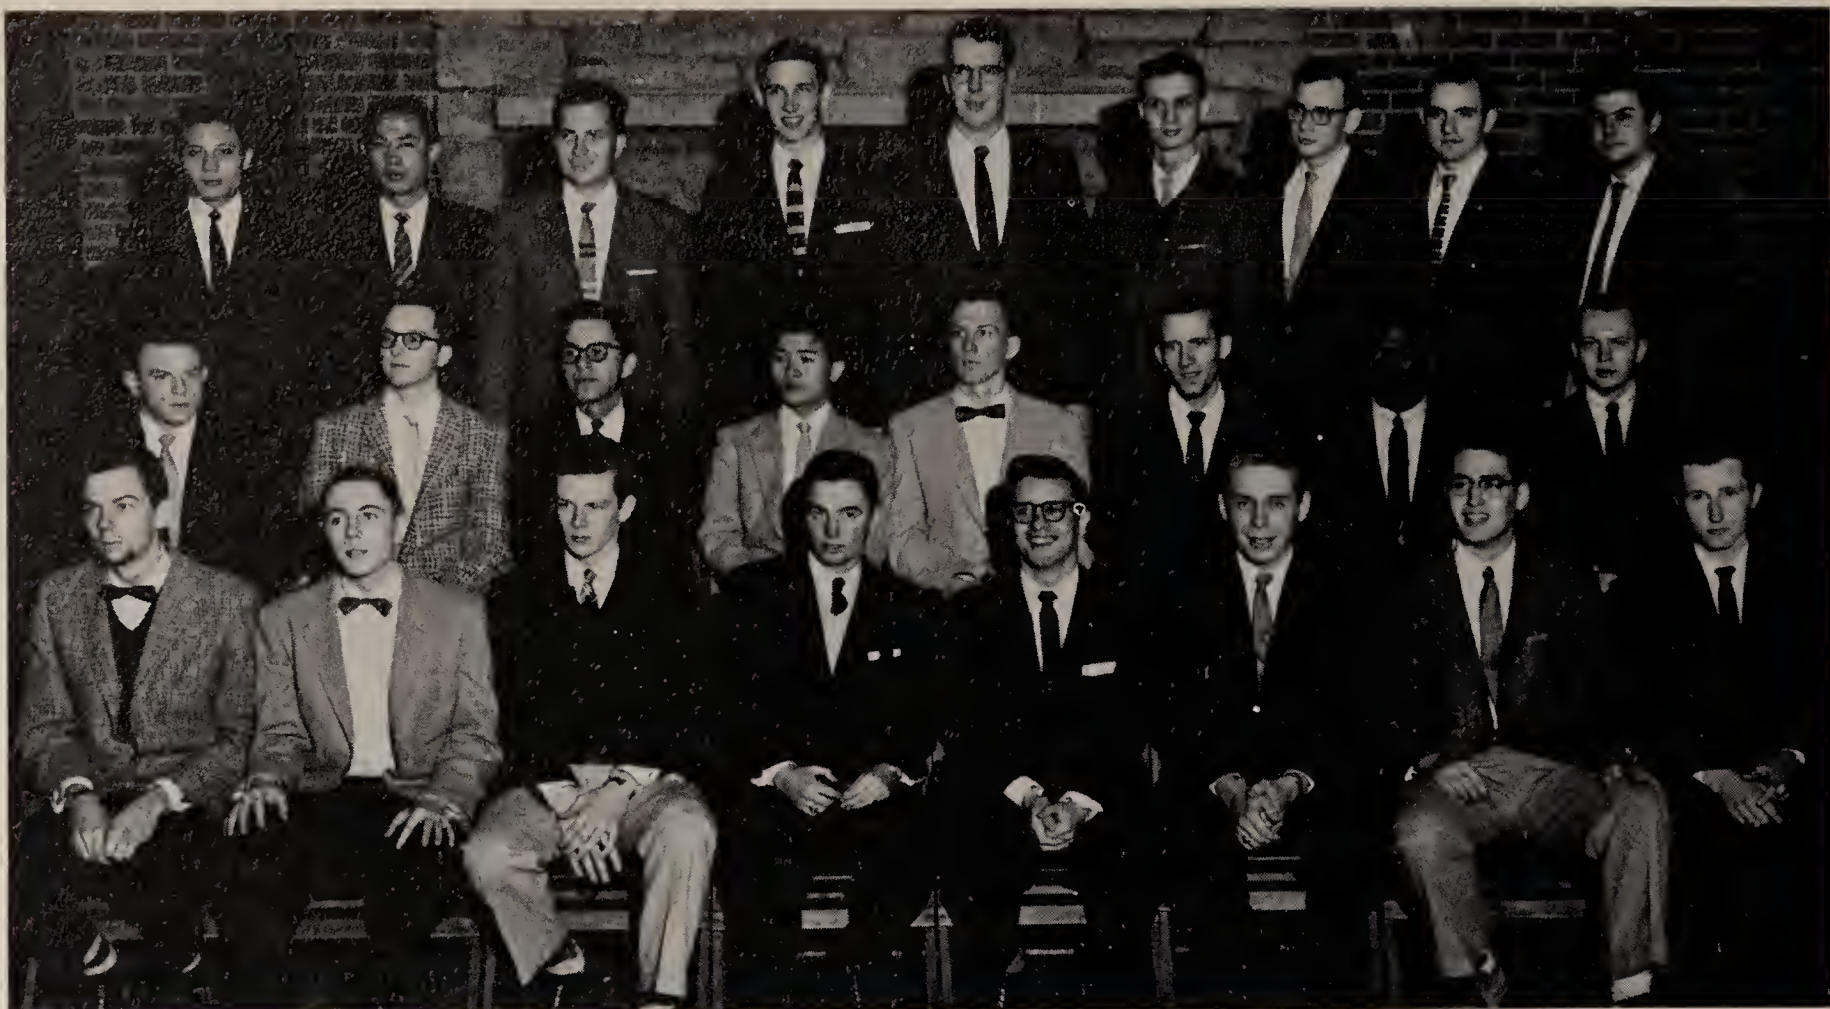

Looking back at the year brings memories of much fun, some work, and a miraculous degree of organization. Above all, we think of "the times we've had, we'll not forget, as Cleo-Anthony."

Lancelot-Elaine Clubs

The LEC's began the school year with a rush party given out at the Bell Road Barn, owned by Mr. Jenkin David. Various entertainments were presented and music for dancing was provided by the LEC Combo. Rush Week ended for the club at the Easton's home on Saturday of the first week of school, and the new and old members enjoyed a day of swimming, eating, and singing.

The activities of the Lancelot-Elaine clubs are like those of the other clubs as far as general business goes. But in addition to the business meeting schedule, the LEC's found time for pizza parties, social meetings, and serenades. Highlighting the year was the annual "Knight-time Ball," the only off-campus dance, and this year held in the rooftop ballroom of the Alladin Hotel in Kansas City. Fancy food was served and the Tune Toppers (who, this year, have been almost an institution at Park in the dance band department) supplied the music. Chairmen of the dance were Ken Martin and Chuck Watson.

In sports, the Lances took first place in soccer and third place in basketball. The Elaines took third in speedball and were part of the three-way tie for first in basketball. Both clubs were well-represented on all-star teams.

Char relaxes at the LEC picnic.

As usual, certain LEC's held down important spots in the Park Singers and our own Paul Gault has carried on the theatre-management tradition set by J. G. Willson and Chuck Watson. What kind of a year was it? A year like all years for the Lancelot-Elaine Clubs--a good year.

Orion - Aurora Clubs

"Aurora spirit with us always"--"Orions to you, our brothers kind and true", rang out in the night to top off last year, a year of success, and it sang in this year when the spirit of the OAC's filled Commons to welcome in a new year of fun and success.

The work of many busy hands made possible a successful Rush Week, but after this, everyone relaxed and had a lot of fun at "Doc" Hamilton's home. This outing gave an opportunity to all the old members of the club to really get acquainted with the fine crop of "frosh" who were soon a part of the OAC's spirit.

The next event was the preparation for Harvest Festival. With the cooperation of everyone in the club, and a lot of hard work, the OAC's again reigned with the winning float.

The club, not tired at all by the work all ready accomplished, plunged into the planning of the annual OAC Homecoming Show. This year it was called "Fruccio" and the show was given in the memory of Victor Gift. All the efforts put into the show were well rewarded, because fun was had by all who took part, and the audiences enjoyed the show.

Second semester saw the OAC's planning with enthusiasm for the OAC ball. Looking ahead to the end of a successful year in sports and activities, the OAC's will sing out the year with their song--"We will always pull together."

Plans are discussed for "Fruccio."

Parchevard - Calliopean Clubs

The PCC's started off the year with their rush party in the Meetin' House and the picnic for new club members at the Bell Road Barn Playhouse.

The first big activity of the year, the PCC dance, came right on the heels of rush week. The dance was held September 28, in Commons; the theme was "Water Wonderland", the decorations were green and blue, and the "Tune Toppers" provided the music. Nona Lynn and Ted Duncan were elected King and Queen, reigning over the Festivities.

"Tea House of the Harvest Moon" was the theme of the club float entered in the Harvest Festival parade. The tea house was done in black and white; two girls in Japanese costumes decorated the float.

In November the club members piled into hay filled wagons and were off for a chilly hay ride. Cocoa and ginger bread at the home of the Wines gave the frozen PCC's a chance to thaw out before starting home.

Neither the Parchies or the Callios captured any sports titles this fall, but the teams had a lot of fun competing.

The second semester activities got under way with a club party featuring a skit by our club sponsors. The Parchie Varsity was held in April in the Studio Theatre above the gym. The club presented the play "Life of the Insects."

Climaxing the year events were the ice-cream social and street dance, and the formal banquet in May. At the banquet, the officers for next semester were installed and the trophies were presented to the Outstanding Parchie and Callio.

Park Singers

Lightening never strikes twice in the same place, but with the Park Singers it doesn't have to --they'll always manage to be under the tree that lightening chooses to hit. Just replace the lightening with snow storms and you'll have the situation the Singers were in this year, along with their usual flat tires, broken head gaskets, wrong directions, etc., etc., etc.

However, the Singers made it to a few shows this year, and the audiences were usually rewarded for their bravery with a good show. That is, bravery in coming while facing the probability of the Singers not making it. The Singers had thought of using the theme "Around the World in Eighty Days," but some smart-alec named Mike Todd got hold of it first, so they told their audiences "Around the World in 37 1/2 Minutes" instead. They did songs in four different languages--not all at the same time--and from many countries. The over-all presentation was smoother this year, and they're looking forward to an even better season next year. Who knows? ....maybe the unbeliever among them will graduate with this year's class.

Orchestra

The Little Orchestra Society, this year celebrating its first year, makes two appearances per year in concert. The orchestra is made up of Park College students as well as a good many musicians from Parkville, Kansas City (both Missouri and Kansas), Gladstone, Raytown, and North Kansas City. Consisting of forty-two members, the group has performed works ranging from Bach (18th century) to Bergsma (20th century) and has also featured brass, percussion, and various soloists.

The Little Orchestra is conducted and directed by Mr. Richard E. Cormier and his fine interpretation and definitive hand have commanded respect from each and every member. A former pupil of Pierre Monteux, Mr. Cormier makes the orchestra an educational source as well as an instrument of enjoyment, and his programs have been most impressive. It looks like many good things are in the future for this rapidly maturing organization.

Band

If someone were to mention the Park College band about three years ago, a squelched snicker might have been heard from the back of the room and most likely from the front of the room, too. But this year, as evidenced in two dessert concerts, the band has pushed its standards far higher and the attainment of them has certainly been witnessed.

Under the leadership of Mr. Richard Cormier, the band has steadily increased its membership; this, of course, has enabled a far greater variety of music to come to the fore. The band has always presented a well-rounded selection of music which usually includes marches, "pops", show tunes, a bit of jazz, and this year, the more modern works of England and America were featured. Composers include such names as Vaughan Williams, Gustav Holst, Clare Grundman, Richard Rodgers, and others.

A class in "band" has often been said to be a "snap course". It is definitely not the case here, as a great deal of work goes into each class period. The quality of music is far from "easy", but its mastering is exceedingly impressive, as can be remembered in the appearances of the band this year.

Carrying on its year-old "tradition" of dessert concerts, the band presented its second program of the year on February 27 in upper Commons. Students and faculty enjoyed the concert while munching on apple pie and cheese.

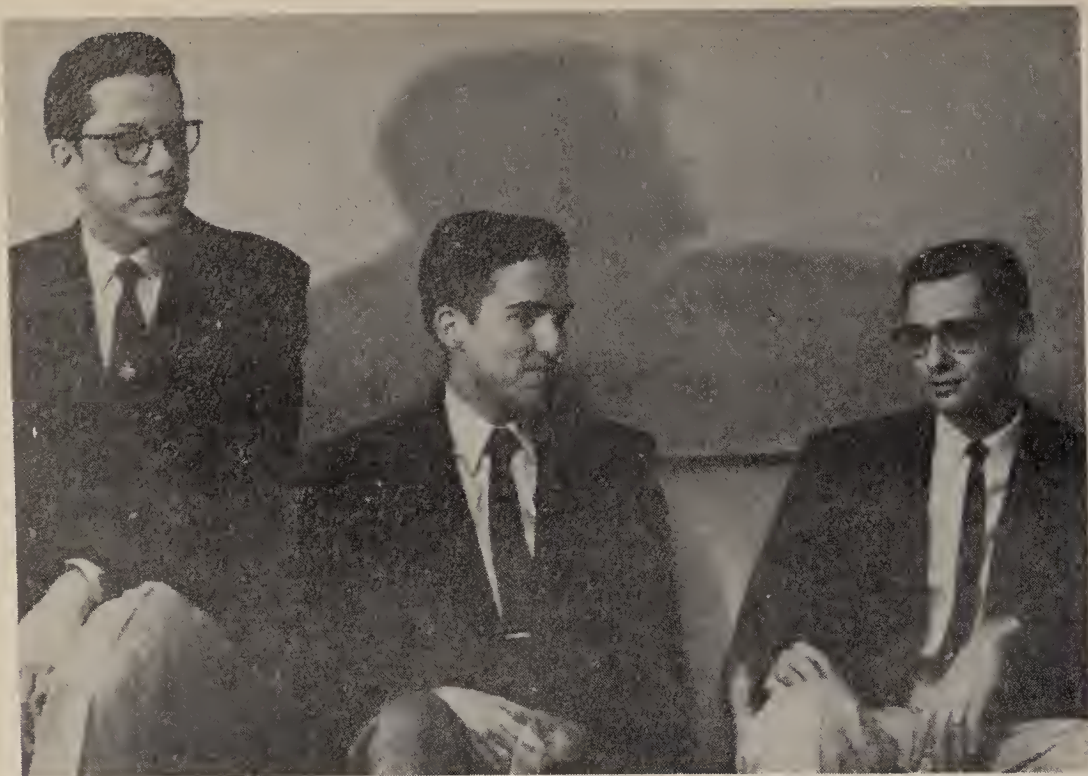

In January, the orchestra held a "reading day" in which a great number and variety of works were played. Guest musicians from the near-by area were present, and after the rehearsal, a buffet dinner was served.

Chesnut

On the hill overlooking "Commons" stands a little white cottage known to all as Chesnut dormitory for men. This has been known as such since 1955 when "ole" Chesnut decided to burn itself.

Starting out with twenty-four residents, it now has only seventeen. This makes for a very quiet dormitory, and one with little social activities. Only two activities of this nature were held during the academic year; one being an open house, and the other a house party.

A new head resident was attached to us this year in the person of Coach Carpenter.

Hark! I hear the sweeper being used. Don't tell me Sam's cleaning his room again!

Chesnut has more Hi-Fi sets per capita than any other dorm. Matt, assisted by Paul, presents a Hi-Fi demonstration.

Copley - Thaw

At the beginning of the school year Copley found itself over-populated with quiet, studious, freshmen, who dominated the second floor and the greater part of the third. These new-comers found their rooms quite dismal in appearance. On first glance, some thought the rooms resembled cells, while others thought of them as cubical torture chambers, with their simple, functional furniture. The rooms did not remain dull and drab for long, as was seen at our open house. Tapestries, Hi-Fi's, rugs, pictures, and most important, calendars for "day-counting" brightened the atmosphere.

Copley spirit grew and grew until action was taken to nullify the spirit of sound. With the help of our two presidents, the house council, and the Chabes, the men of Copley became accustomed to living in the dorm, although it took ear plugs, extra blankets, new roommates, locks on the doors, and sun glasses for the bright yellow shower stalls, in order to bring this about.

Hawley

Mrs. Dot Hawkins, Housemother

The beautiful, modernistic building at the end of the road? That is Hawley Hall and it is our home. It has everything in it. The luxurious lounge (What goes on in that lounge. Wow!) , the swell kitchen with all sorts of tantalizing smells coming from it, the food that is supposed to be there but just happened to wander away with someone else, the laundry room which is always busy as a bee in the springtime and messy as their honey in the washer, and our wonderful rooms, that is if you can find them after wading through stuffed animals, souvenirs, food, books, records, and other odd assortments of nonsense.

We do study sometimes in Hawley. We have our quiet hours, which are occasionally quiet; and when we put an end to or make short of the counseling hour, nosy hour, house meetings, surprise parties, cell meetings and general chit-chat, we settle down to our studies.

We all love Hawley because it holds so many wonderful memories of our freshman year. The glorious moments of "Hell Week," what a riot, the lilting days through our never-to-be-forgotten "Rush Week," those so fine "Midnight Raids" when we weren't sure whether we would live another second or not, our marvelously successful House Party when a change like night and day came over the girls and they all looked like devastating Cinderellas with their Prince Charmings, the delightful time of Open House when the never since so spotless rooms which reeked with personality were a delight to everyone, the laughing and tears, the frisking and frolicking along with the quiet moments, "Mom" Hawkins with her vivacious ways and ever readiness to help; all of these things weave together like argyles to make Hawley part of the Park Family.

Herr House

Here is Herr House, fascinating old structure of stone and home to a large part of Park's upper class women. We live here not in luxury but rather in the freedom to express our individuality - this permitted by these spacious rooms with lived-in airs, which may be converted into almost anything. The various room types possible (and types of neurosis probable) were displayed during the first event of our social season, Open House in the fall.

In dwelling here we must accept as atmosphere the little things that happen from time to time . . . plaster falling off the wall into the bathtub, a chair collapsing, steam pipes coming alive at five in the morning, silverfish in our cashmeres. More familiar and much more pleasant is the presence of Mrs. Fleming, housemother, always with a joi de vivre, exercising firm supervision tactfully, always helpful with advice on important matters - like our House Party which was held right after Valentine's Day this year. The party had a Valentine theme and was very successful as the second and final event of our season . . . another memory of good times to be associated with life here in Herr House. And so we pass another peaceful year, remaining, as ever, un-charred.

Mrs. Sarah Fleming, Housemother

Nickel

It is with a tear in the eye that the few comments on this page are made. It seems that the "condemning" of Nickel Hall about three years ago is slowly grinding all life from its inhabitants. The situation has even brought the epithet of "the Nickel angels" to the fore which is indeed a sign of a lost tradition.

Nickel Hall was once comparable to a Park College Zoo housing (as a former spirit named Rodda expressed it) "monkeys of many colors." It was largely through the efforts of our former house resident-lumberjack that a regulated chaos was maintained. The somewhat notorious reverence for our home is gone. And besides that, the second floor has had a great deal of plumbing trouble.

But actually things aren't as bad as they may seem. This year Nickel houses Park's theater manager, all forms of music from the high-fidelity of Aldrich and Thomas to the warblings of Yun Lee and Barnes, strange food from exotic lands brewed by Ree and Masunaga, and the frantic sounds of study from all rooms. And from the sentinel come the psychological musings of Al Patience, our head resident, who always has (or should have) coffee brewing.

There have been two noticeable absences from Nickel's usual calendar of events. One was the paucity of house meeting (at this time, no opportunity for campus inspection of Nickel is in the future); the nightly jaunts "de via" for that relaxing break from study has also been abandoned by many. The blessings bestowed by the addition of the Music Annex must have given everyone a sense of inner calm.

Two big gains this year were the painting of Nickel's front porch (a haunting combination of puce and mauve) and the acquisition of a "study room." Possibly these two additions along with the excellent picture of our "shrine" on these pages will be enough to insure the future of Nickel Hall. Or is this being idealistic?

Stephens

Still the "door-key" kids on top of Hawley, the women of Stephens have adjusted to their Stephens-in-Hawley position (despite the post-office maintaining there is no separate identity). Be it proclaimed, Stephens is an individual dorm, and maintains two study lounges, a formal-trunk room, and a sewing-ironing room--with a fair amount of order (?).

Beginning with its "sanctified binge" at Dierks in the fall, through its traditional formal open-house on a frosty February night (with cranberry punch that compensated for the cold night and long climb to fourth floor, according to Dean Easton); not to leave out the steak dinner Houseparty, and bouffet dinner WUS project (emphasizing Stephens' monopoly on Home Economic majors), and the surprise birthday or unbirthday parties, the women of Stephens have been busy! But the social life is not all. The academic standing is generally high and with senior comps this spring, the clatter of typewriters and staggering piles of books increased.

In the scramble for the girls' basketball championship this year ended in a three way tie for first place. The Elaines, the Auroras, and Cleos all tying for honors and the Callios dropping into the last spot.

The Orions won this years championship by a 5-1 record. They found stiff competition from the Parchies who were right behind them all during the season.

Intercollegiate Soccer

This year's intercollegiate soccer team finished a fine season with an exciting and rewarding airplane flight to Denver, Colorado, where they played the Air Force Academy. Although they lost the game, the Pirates were very pleased with the opportunity for such a trip. In their other games of the season the Park team defeated Tabor College at Homecoming and then defeated Wentworth Military Academy. The Pirates had a record of two wins, two loses, and two ties.

Intercollegiate Basketball

This past season marks the third year of Varsity basketball for the Park College Pirates. Though their record was unbalanced the eleven hoopsters played with spirit and enthusiasm during the entire season. A shooting star for the Pirates was Cliff Porter, a freshman. He was the high scorer in game after game.

A few games played away from the college were at Graceland, Kansas City Bible College, Tabor and Westminster. The Park College bus was taken to the Graceland game with many of the students to cheer on the team.

Community Service Program

After considerable investigation and examination by both Student Council and faculty committees last year, the Work Program withered and died in the heat of the summer. In its place, wearing a new, more appropriate title, arose the Community Service Program.

One major improvement in the philosophy of the new program has been a shift in emphasis away from the amount of time recorded to the quality of the job accomplished. The most spectacular functional change has been effected in Commons, where prep and clean-up crews have been combined to increase efficiency.

Under the able direction of Mr. Theodore Fehlandt, the Community Service Program office has been busily employed in setting up Commons' schedules, assigning student workers to their respective jobs, tracking down AWOL's, and, in general, organizing the various aspects of the Program into a functioning whole.

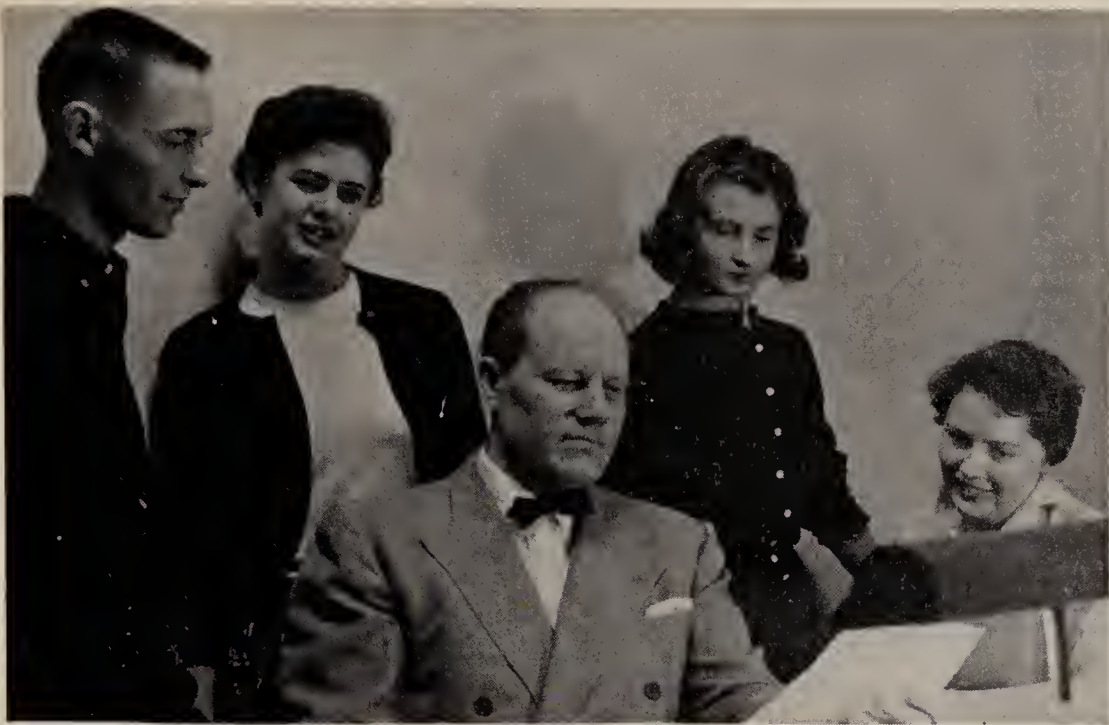

And how do you like your work?

It must be something good tonight!

Mr. Fehlandt and his office staff look over the monetary position of the Student Industries.

Banging it won't do any good Bill . . . you'll still only get 5 nickels for a quarter.

The strong-arm boys at work . . .

Student Industries

During this year the Student Industries, under the direction of Theodore Fehlandt, has progressed in several directions. Patterned basically after a democratic form of government, the various industries are managed by students who not only gain practical experience but perform needed services for the Park community.

Progress has been very evident in the J. R. which has been completely renovated and redecorated, much to the delight of students and faculty. It is again slowly becoming the most popular place on campus. The Theater, finding its temporary home in Commons this year, has kept its popularity by consistently showing top films. The Bookstore continues to expand and now carries a greater number of diverse items of merchandise than ever before. The laundry, the vending machines, and the carry-all have also expanded to fulfill better the needs of the Park family, being a vital part in its functioning.

Bookstore

The Bookstore has continued serving the students this year. Self-service on the text books has been introduced with a greater variety in merchandise. Often accused of highway robbery, the Bookstore actually sells goods at the lowest possible prices without going bankrupt. Stock includes everything from Hi-Fi sets to floor mats. Come in and browse a while . . . .

Everything from "Lip-Ice" to ashtrays . . .

A typical loiterer.

Jolly Roger

Great things have happened to the J. R. this year. On returning from Christmas vacation, students found that decorators had been busy, making the J. R. into something that is of pride to all. A new fountain, booths, the mural by George Crosky, and the atmospheric Pirates Den are all part of the Jolly Roger. This year, a pool table was installed, which receives constant patronization by the "cue" boys. The planning and execution of the redecoration of the J. R. is a result of the work of the Student Union Committee and Mr. Stanton.

Well, where's the ping-pong ball?

Better be careful, Bob, Sam isn't kidding.

Wonder who's behind the post.

Laundry

Like seeing the sunrise on Monday mornings? Then join the laundry crew. Remember--only 2 sheets, 2 pillow-cases, two towels and two washclothes per week, per customer.

Just think what a mess you could make if you put blue dye in that machine!

Park Theatre

Having lost its lease, the Park Theatre took up new quarters in upper Commons. Through the work of Paul Gault and his crew, various obstacles have been overcome (such as the acquisition of new lenses), and the week-end cinema is running smoothly. The selection of movies has been superb, and there is always the added incentive that you might buy the tenth bag of popcorn--the one with the free ticket in it!

Just turn this little knob here . . . or maybe that one . . . or . . .

It must be Buster Crabbe . . .

Waverly Hospital

Run down, fluish, cold in the head? Then Waverly Hospital is the place to go. Their foremost formula for treating all forms of ills is lots of rest and good food. It really works! This year, the Hospital encouraged all students to take advantage of the free Asiatic-flu shots available. Early in the year, a campus wide health examination program was carried out.

MRS. LUELLA MATTHEWS, R. N.

MISS GERTRUDE MARKLEY, R. N.

Library

Students seeking refuge from dorm noise, record fiends, bookworms--all these, in addition to the general use of library materials are reasons why so many students frequent the library. Another attraction of the library is the group of books for sale, ranging from How To Grow Apple Trees in Rocky Soil to The History of the World in One Volume.

Under the skilled guidance of Miss Fishburn and Mrs. Rindone, the library is kept in smooth running order. Never say you can't find a book--within minutes you will know where it is.

Thompson Commons

Thompson Commons is undoubtedly the busiest building on campus. Not only does it serve as a dining hall, but is also the scene of numerous campus dances and functions.

This year, Mrs. Louise Lake took charge as the new Food Service Director, with Mrs. Edith O'Conner as the Food Supervisor. The effects of a woman's touch were evidenced by the table decorations at Christmas and Valentine's Day, created by Mrs. O'Conner.

Maintenance

The work of the maintenance department is never-ending. For example, each spring the geraniums must be set out in the triangle, only to be dug up again each fall. It is their job to fix the radiators when it gets too cold in the winter and too hot in the summer. Mopping, hammering, fixing - just name it and you've hit upon another duty of the maintenance department.

Print Shop

The Park College Press, located down the hill and across the creeping creek, is leased by Paul Sherwood. In addition to the regular employees, some Park students also fulfill their Community duties there. Most of the college printing is done by the press, including the STYLUS, ALUMNIAD, and the RECORD, plus other various programs, bulletins, etc.

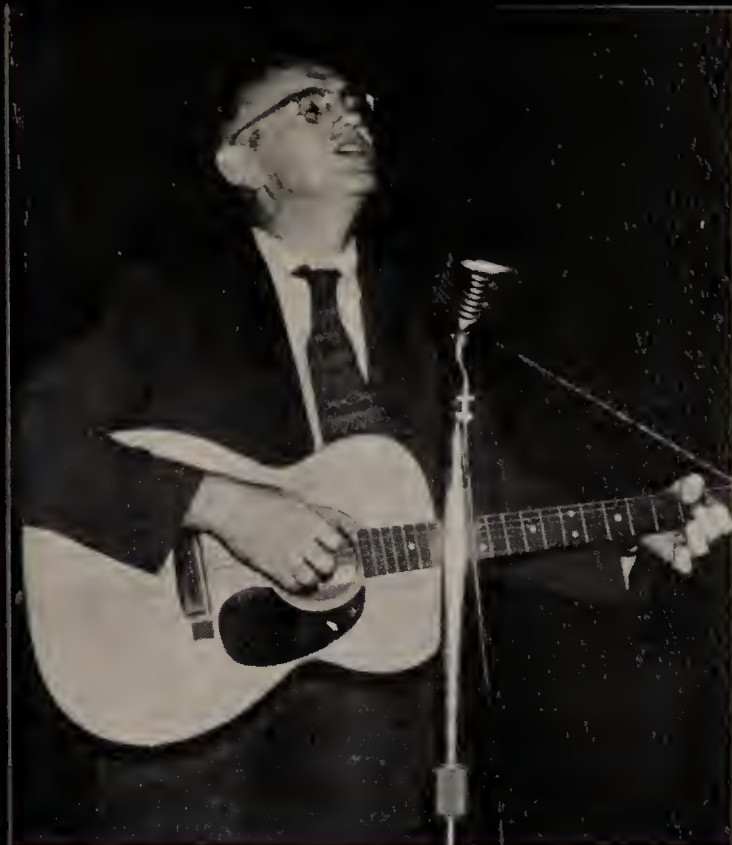

Looks confusing, doesn't it!
